Terrible Accident at Fayal, The pair ful intelligence has just been regived of the death at Fayal Azores, of Alfred Backminster Frost, the youngest son of Rev. B. Frost, lately pastor of the Unitarian Church in Concord. Rev. Mr. Frost, Mrs. Prist, their son Alfred, about ten years old. and a female friend, Miss Fuller, have been iring at Fayel several months, in hopes of herefit to Mr. Frost's health. About the 1st June, the boy became one of a party to isit the Peak of Pico, a mountain upon the Island. Miss Fuller was of the party, but the state of Mr. Frost's health was such that his wife was unable to go. The party consisted partly of sea-captains, with whom young Frost had made himself a great favorite. Returning from their visit, while upon the mountains, they got out of their path, and began to explore for the purpose of finding Seeing an opening, one of the men told Alfred to run along and see what he could find there. He did so. A moment after he was heard to scream that he was falling. The company rushed to his aid, but it was too late He had fallen from a precipice seventy feet high- His back was broken, and he reseived other injuries. He was taken home, a distance of nine miles, and lived three days, having his con-ciousness the whole time, and talking with his parents and friends. He had bardly ever in his life been separated from his father and mother, even for a day. and this sudden accident and death must be Terrible Tragedy.

A most shocking affair occurred in Maine village, in this county, about 16 miles from Binghamton, on Friday afternoon, 16th inst. Oliver Howard, a man about 30 years old. murdered two of his children by cutting their throats with a razor! The circumstances of this most lamentable occurrence, as near as we learn, are as follows: - Oliver Howard, the murderer, lives in the village of Maine-bas a wife and four children-two girls and two boys. His wife's mother had been staying a few days at his boose, and the day previous to the murder, his wife and wife's mother went on a visit to the house of the latter, taking with them the two youngest children, the g ris, leaving the two boys, one aged six, and the other tour, at home. About 4 o'clock, on Friday atternoon, Howard left the Tannery of Mr. Sandford, where he worked, went to his house, and returned soon after to the Tannery. Not long after, it was discovered that the two little boys had been murprisoner admitted that he committed the doule murder, and waived an examination. The murderer was brought to Binghamton last (Friday) night, and lodged in jail. No reason was assigned by the prisoner, we are informed, for the act when he was arrested. Now that he is in juil for the horrid crime, be says that he was in fear of the Lord, and much sympathy among all who knew the thought that he was commanded by the Lord to kill his two boys. We think that this is a mere dodge to escape punishment, on the ground of insanity; and that instead of having any communication from the Lord, he was instigated by the Devil and his own bad passions to commit this most devilish crime .--Binghampton Rep

COMMUNICATED. I see by an extract in the Gazette, from the Richmond South, that a concerted South ern demonstration, in 1860, was arranged, to have at its head Goo. Quitman. What was the object and intention of the proposed movement; and does the death of Gen. Quitman give to it a quietus? I ask for information. Are we to have any new elements of discord thrown into our polities by those who assume to be the leaders of a mere Southern A VIRGINIAN.
